Conference to Celebrate 50th Anniversary of Methodist Clergywomen

This year is the 50th Anniversary of full clergy rights for Methodist women. Bishop Minerva Carcaño, Episcopal leader of the Desert Southwest Annual Conference and noted preacher will be bringing the message on Wednesday evening, June 21st and again at the ordination worship on Saturday evening, the 24th.

Donna Patterson and others are planning the opening night worship in celebration of the 50th anniversary of ordination of women. They'd like to compile a listing of the clergywomen ordained in the RMC since 1956. If you are a clergywoman, please send her your name and date of ordination as deacon, elder, local licensed pastor. If you know of a clergywoman who is deceased, please also send to Donna her name and date of ordination if known.

More information regarding the service will be sent as soon as things are finalized. Clergywomen should be prepared to bring robe and favorite stole as well as a candle with holder for the service. The candle may be taper or other (no votive or anything with a strong scent please). The candle will represent the light of Christ you bring to the ministry of the church. If you have any questions, thoughts or ideas please email Donna at pcejoy@earthlink.net.

Judicial Council Upholds Bishop Brown Ruling

In its story reporting on the decisions of the recent Judicial Council rulings, United Methodist News Service has a photo of Bishop Brown, whose decision of law at the 2005 Annual Conference was affirmed in a decision of the Council. This was the decision that an amendment to a petition that allowed elders and local pastors to waive base minimum compensation was a violation of the Book of Discipline. "Only deacons may choose to waive minimum base compensation" and can be appointed to a non-salaried position, the ruling stated. "Elders and local pastors are entitled to receive not less than the equitable compensation established by the annual conference." The UMNS story is here on the UMC.org web site: <http://tinyurl.com/hhcsw>.

In other action, the Council refused to reconsider its rulings in 1031 and 1032. Complete recent Judicial Council decisions are at this address: <http://tinyurl.com/gqf4d>. Bishop Brown has written to the UMs of the Denver Episcopal Area (Rocky Mountain and Yellowstone Conferences) regarding the recent Judicial Council decisions allowing pastors to exclude persons from membership. The letter is below in this issue. More information on this issue is available at <http://rmcumc.org/News/Communications/news.htm>

Peace With Justice Sunday June 11

The Church and Society Network for Peace with Justice wants to remind congregations that June 11 is Peace with Justice Sunday. As one of the six special Sundays that United Methodists are called to observe, this Sunday supports our connectional ministries in the world which promote social justice. Half of the offering collected on that day stays in the Rocky Mountain Conference for the work of the Church and Society Network Advocating for Peace with Justice Committee.

Some highlights of our work:

- Camp Joy for children of incarcerated parents;
- VBS in partnership with Denver Inner City Parish serving Denver's city kids;
- an interfaith prayer service on the 3rd anniversary of the war in Iraq;
- co-sponsorship of a presentation by Tex Sample at Iliff and of health care hearings by Health Care for All Colorado;
- writing curricula for a study of the Social Principles for adult classes and for a session for parents and youth on alcohol abuse (available on our web site: <http://www.rmcumc.org/MI/Justice/>);
- grants to individuals and groups engaged in peace with justice work and much more.

We cannot continue and enhance our ministries at an acceptable level without the support of many churches in the Rocky Mountain Conference. Please set a time to observe Peace with Justice Sunday in your congregations. PWJ Sunday can be celebrated any time during the year if June 11 does not fit in your local church schedule. For more information about Peace with Justice Sunday and the other official UMC Special Sundays, visit <http://www.umcgiving.org>. WARNER H. BROWN, JR.
RESIDENT BISHOP

THE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
DENVER AREA
ROCKY MOUNTAIN CONFERENCE    YELLOWSTONE CONFERENCE

JAYNE ADAMS
EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

I write to send you blessings on these glorious days after Easter. The message of resurrection still rings in our ears and hearts and I pray that you are living in that hope and joy.

By now, almost all of you have heard the news coming from the Judicial Council. To bring you up to date, last year a pastor in the Virginia Conference refused to receive a person into the congregation by transfer from another denomination because the pastor understood the man was homosexual. Believing that the pastor was not in accord with her own understanding of John Wesley's reliance on grace, the Bishop of Virginia, Charlene Kammerer, removed the pastor from his appointment and placed him on leave of absence. Her actions were accepted by the Virginia Conference but the pastor, Rev. Johnson, appealed the decision to the Judicial Council and the Council ruled that he had the implied authority to bar membership. Bishop Kammerer and many others asked for reconsideration of Decision 1032 when the Judicial Council met three weeks ago. In a vote of 5 to 4, the Judicial Council refused to reconsider their previous decision. The Council did, however, signal their encouragement for the wider church to continue in Christian conferencing around the implication of the issues at stake.

I am personally disappointed that the Council refused to reconsider their previous decision. The Book of Discipline of our Church makes it clear that the role of the Judicial Council is to interpret disciplinary provisions from a legal standpoint. I believe they have moved from interpreting church law to making it. I happen to agree with some members of the Council who wrote in dissent that The Book of Discipline does not mention the "responsible pastoral judgment" that the concurring majority mention in stating their case.

I also believe that the decision as originally rendered was not a decision of grace. It is Christ's invitation that brings us to the Table of Holy Communion, and it is Christ's invitation that brings us into deeper fellowship with fellow Christians within the life of a local congregation. All of us who serve as clergy are merely extending the invitation that comes from our Savior; an invitation to live into a new life in relationship with God's people.

My personal feelings aside, the Judicial Council has spoken. Their ruling is the law of the Church and we are bound by it at least until General Conference meets in 2008. The delegates to the 2008 General Conference will have the opportunity to consider where our great church shall go on matters such as these.

The United Methodist Church began as our nation was beginning; the historic principle of "separation of powers" that we understand within our national life are mirrored within our Church. We do not all agree on actions taken by our President, our Congress, or even the Supreme Court, but our disagreement should not be interpreted as disloyalty to the Nation.

In similar fashion, our agreement or disagreement with the Judicial Council decision does not lessen our responsibilities to model Christian conversations or civility within the great family of United Methodists. I want you to know that I will be attempting to model my life and actions after Christ as I respond to this issue, and I invite you - I urge you - to do the same.

In God's Grace and Peace,

Warner H. Brown, Jr.
